1. Introduction

This handbook briefly describes the Post Graduate Diploma in Management (PGDM) and the rules associated with the programme. It also lays out the details regarding personal and academic behaviour as expected from a student of this programme. AIDTM believes in an environment based on trust, integrity, honesty, and impartiality. The students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner that would enhance the image and esteem of the Institute.

2. Adani Group

Adani Group is one of India's largest integrated infrastructure conglomerates with interests in Resources (coal mining and trading), Logistics (ports, logistics, shipping, and rail), Energy (renewable and thermal power generation, transmission, and distribution), and Agro (commodities, edible oil, food products, cold storage, and grain silos), Real Estate, Public Transport Infrastructure, Consumer Finance, and Defense.

Adani group owes its success and leadership position to its core philosophy of 'Nation Building' and 'Growth with Goodness' – a guiding principle for sustainable growth. The Group is committed to protecting the environment and improving communities through its CSR program based on the principles of sustainability, diversity, and shared values. Adani has been the vanguard of transposing the conduct of education by creating an infrastructure management institute, an engineering institute, and a Medical College.

3. Adani Institute of Digital Technology Management (AIDTM)

At Adani Institute of Digital Technology Management (AIDTM), we are driven by stimulation and assurance. The need to bridge the gap between pioneering ideas and futuristic disruptive technology-driven innovation requires great learning. At Adani Institute of Digital Technology Management (AIDTM), this need is taken care of by the state-of-the-art campus, very learned faculties, and most importantly, Summer Internships, Capstone projects, and enviable placements at the best organizations.

AIDTM was established in the year 2020, with the core adherence of creating continuously employable professionals in the field of Big Data Analytics and Artificial Intelligence & Data Science. For non-tech background students too, they learn unknown correlations, market trends, and customer preferences that help make better decisions and prevent fraudulent activities in organizations.

AIDTM is inspired and guided by esteemed leaders, who are known for their vision, achievements, and charisma.

Vision

To emerge as an international center of excellence in the field of data science and digital technology. To create best talent helping to shape future India.

Mission

To develop/ create an international Institute to ensure that data science and digital technology is for everyone.

4. PDGM Programme

4.1 PGDM (Big Data Analytics)

PGDM (Big Data Analytics) is an AICTE-approved two-year full-time specialized programme for any graduates who are passionate about shaping a career in Big Data Analytics. In the first year, students complete core courses that provide a thorough, and integrated foundation in management & big data analytics essentials and a summer internship of 4 months while in the second year, they get exposure and hands-on experience on recent technologies related to big data analytics and some elective courses of management domains. At the same time, students also get exposure to independent projects, seminars, and finally, end with a capstone project. The idea behind the capstone project is to leave an impact on the recruiters on the program's delivery and to create confidence and empower students to face "real world" challenges.

4.2 PGDM (Artificial Intelligence & Data Science)

PGDM (AI & DS) is an AICTE-approved two-year full-time specialized program for any graduates who are passionate about shaping various career paths like Data Scientist, AI Engineer, Business Analyst, and Machine Learning Engineer. In the first year, students complete core courses that provide a strong foundation in AI Data Science, Machine Learning, Deep Learning, Predictive Analytics, and Summer Internship while in the second year, they get exposure and hands-on experience on recent technologies Gen-AI, RPA, NLP, Data Engineering and Modelling related courses of technology and management domains. At the same time, students also get exposure to independent projects, seminars, and finally, end with a capstone project of a 5-month duration. The idea behind the capstone project is to leave an impact on the recruiters on the programs delivery and to create confidence and empower students to face real world challenges.

4.3 Programme Structure

The structure of the PGDM primarily aims at providing individuals with ample opportunities to learn time-tested management principles as well as current best practices in the field of Big Data Analytics and Artificial Intelligence & Data Science. It also provides exposure to evolving next-generation practices through active interaction with industry continuously. The structure of the programme is blended with core and elective courses spread over six terms in two years. The first year of the PGDM has core courses, whereas the focus of the second year is on elective courses from across different functional areas. In the final trimester, students undertake a Capstone Project, which helps students create confidence and empower students to face "real world" challenges.

The academic year 2025-27 begins in August 2025 (as per AICTE notification) and ends in May 2027. The students are also required to complete an internship at the end of the first year. If a student does not complete the minimum requirements for the award of a degree at the end of the programme, s/he can take two more years (i.e., a maximum of 2+2=4 years in total), to complete the programme, subject to fulfilment of conditions stated later in this handbook. The PGDM programme offers core courses and elective courses. All core courses are compulsory, and it is mandatory to pass these courses to be eligible for a degree. The list of 1st year courses offered to the students of PGDM (2025-27) is included in Annexure I A & B (for PGDM BDA and AI & DS).

5. Summer Internship Program

To ensure the overall development of necessary skills among the students and prepare them for real-life assignments, the students must undergo four months of a summer internship program.

Internship is an important and integral part of the PGDM curriculum. The placement cell will manage the process of getting Internship assignments for the students.

6. Pedagogy

AIDTM strongly believes in equipping budding techno managers with the latest pedagogical tools which are largely student-driven. To accomplish this, the Institute follows a sensible blend of Classroom Teaching, Lectures, Use Case Discussion & Analysis, Presentations, Group Exercises, Simulations, Role Plays, Project Work, Industrial Visits, SIP and Capstone Projects, independent self-learning and learning beyond the classroom, etc. as pedagogy. Active participation in the learning process facilitates budding managers to acquire knowledge, attitude, skills, and a mindset to handle varied and complex business problems successfully.

7. Projects

7.1 Group Projects – A Chance for Growing Together

Working with talented and accomplished peers provides a unique opportunity for accelerated professional and personal growth. Group projects are a major component of most courses, and help students develop and refine their skills in working with diverse groups. The groups are formed from pools of varied disciplines, backgrounds, corporate experience, and career orientations to leverage the enormous diversity in perspectives.

7.2 Capstone Project

In the sixth trimester, students will undergo a Capstone Project. The Capstone Project places students in the driving seat to solve real-world business problems. Students will learn to face challenging and integrative problems of the real business world that require a techno-managerial perspective and are global.

8. Student Feedback

The students will be requested to provide their feedback twice in a term about the courses they have attended. The Program Office will circulate a Feedback Questionnaire to each student, which s/he is expected to complete and submit to the concerned official within the given session. When taken online, the students are allowed to fill in the feedback within a certain pre-stipulated time interval on the corresponding portal. This feedback helps in further improving the quality of the courses that are delivered to the students.

9. Examinations

1) Occupy the seat allotted to you in the seating chart. Every Student should be seated in the exam hall 10 minutes before the scheduled commencement of the paper. Entry into the examination hall after the commencement of the paper will be solely at the discretion of the examination coordinator, but in no case will the student be allowed to enter after the first half an hour of the exam.
2) Each student must always wear his/her identity card and produce whenever asked. A student who is not displaying an identity card may not be allowed to take the examination.

3) Do not go out of the examination hall without the prior permission of the invigilator.
4) The questions must be answered in legible handwriting.
5) No extra supplementary answer sheets will be given for rough work on any paper. Rough work can be done on the last page of the main answer book.
6) Do not refer to any book, paper, or other notes, unless it is an open-book examination.
7) In an open book examination, faculty members will suggest the books/ material to be referred to.
8) Each student must bring his/her calculator and no borrowing or lending of calculators will be permitted during the exam. Students are not allowed to keep any books, paper, scientific calculators, mobile phones, smart watches, iPads, or any Bluetooth device in the examination hall.
9) Verbal or non-verbal conversation with other students is prohibited.
10) Passing, receiving, or seeing answer papers of other students during examinations is strictly prohibited. Anyone who willfully assists will be considered as guilty as one who receives it. Any type of communication or even looking at other students' answer books will be deemed to be an attempt at copying.
11) The students must ensure that the main answer book and that each answer sheet is signed by the supervisor.
12) All Examinations are conducted under CCTV camera and later if found that any one or more student(s) was copying then appropriate action will be taken.
13) At the end of the examination, the supervisor on duty would collect the answer books from the desk, and therefore students should stay back until their answer books are collected. However, those who finish the examination at least fifteen minutes before the closing time could leave the hall earlier after handing in the answer books to the supervisor. No student will be allowed to leave the exam hall within the first half hour of the commencement of exams and in the last fifteen minutes.
14) Under no circumstances are the answer books to be taken out of the classrooms. Handing over the answer books to the invigilator is the responsibility of the students.

15) Penalties for the breach of examination rules and regulations may result in a maximum punishment of expulsion from the Programme. The punishment will be determined by the appropriate authority through due process.

10. Evaluation System

10.1 Evaluations

AIDTM follows a continuous evaluation system that is fair and rigorous. Each course will have a few evaluation components which may include mid-term examination, end-term examination, case discussions, class participation, assignments, projects, quizzes, class tests, and/or any other method. The concerned faculty will pre-announce the components and scheme of evaluation in the course outline.

10.2 Eligibility for Writing End-Term Examination

The Institute expects students to attend all classes. A minimum of 70% attendance is required by the student to be eligible to appear for the end-term examination.

The Institute reserves the right to allow a student with lower attendance to appear for the end-term examination. Refer to Annexure III for the attendance policy of the institute.

Grade	A	B	C	D	F	I
Description	Excellent	Good	Satisfactory	Low Pass	Fail	Incomplete (Final Grade Pending)

10.3 Grading System

A five-point scale will be used for evaluating students in individual courses.

For each component of evaluation, generally, marks are first awarded which are next converted into letter grades with the instructor deciding the range of marks for each letter grade. The component-wise letter grades are then converted into numerical values (up to two decimal points) by using the Grade Conversion Table.

The values, so obtained by a student in various components of evaluation in a course, would be added and the sum would be divided by 3 to obtain the final course grade points which will then be converted into a final letter grade for the entire course by using the following conversion table:

Grade Point	3.55 to 4.33	2.55 to 3.54	1.55 to 2.54	0.55 to 1.54	0.00 to 0.54
Grade	A	B	C	D	F

'I' grade is awarded in extraordinary situations. Refer to the subsection on the 'I' grade.

10.3.1 'I' Grade

If a student has not fulfilled the academic requirements of a course, he/she may be assigned an "I" (Incomplete) grade temporarily, representing non-completion of the academic requirements of the course. First-year PGDM students must complete any such incomplete coursework before they proceed for their summer internship. In the case of a second-year student, such incomplete coursework of a particular academic term should be completed within the following term. The "I" grade obtained in the sixth term must be completed well in time to graduate. If for any reason, the student fails to complete the course within the time stipulated by the course instructor and/or the Program Office, then the "I" grade will be automatically converted into an "F" grade.

If a student misses one or more components of the evaluation with prior permission, the following procedure will be followed:

I. Initially, the student will be awarded an "I" (incomplete) grade. "I" is a temporary grade, not intended to be shown as a final grade in a course.

II. When the student completes the make-up requirements as specified by the course instructor within the specified time, "I" will be replaced by the final grade (A, B, C, D, F) awarded for that component by the instructor.

III. In case the student fails to complete the make-up requirements as indicated in (Point # II) above, the instructor will give an "F" for the missed component(s) of evaluation.

IV. The grades given by an instructor in any component of the evaluation are final. The instructor will not be called upon to justify the grades if they conform to the norms. A student who desires clarification on the grade(s) awarded, may discuss the matter with the concerned instructor(s) within 4 days after receiving the grades. If any grievance regarding grading is not resolved through discussion with the instructor or if the instructor is not available in the station, the concerned student may refer the matter to the Dean in writing within 2 days thereafter, who will then discuss the matter with the instructor, if required.

V. In the case of the Term-III end-term examination, the students may ask queries through email. The faculty members are expected to respond as deemed necessary.

10.4 Grade Point Average (GPA)

GPA for a term is the weighted average of the grade points obtained in the courses registered for by a student in that term, the weights being the respective course credits. The trimester grade point average of a student shall be calculated based on the number of credits (Ci) assigned to any course (i) of the trimester and the grade point (Pi) earned in the course.

$$\textbf{GPA:} \quad \frac{Sum \sum_{i=1}^{n} CiPi}{\sum_{i=1}^{n} Ci}$$

10.5 Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA)

CGPA, as at the end of a term/year, is the weighted average of the grade points obtained in all the courses registered by a student up to the end including that term/year, the weights being the respective course credits. Where Ci is the total no. of credits assigned to any trimester (i^{th}) and Gi is the GPA obtained in that trimester (i^{th}).

$$\textbf{CGPA:} \quad \frac{Sum \sum_{i=1}^{n} CiGi}{\sum_{i=1}^{n} Ci}$$

Refer to Annexure - IV for the System of Evaluation of the Institute.

10.6 Communication of Grades

- Course instructors are required to communicate to the students the marks obtained in the quizzes/exams as soon as possible. Instructors may communicate the component-wise marks directly to students, while the final course grade is communicated to the students by the Program Office.
- The Program Office will communicate to students their final letter grades in various courses along with GPA and CGPA.

10.7 Grade Dispute

A student who has a dispute with the grade announced in any component of the evaluation or the overall grade has recourse available as per the norms and procedure prescribed by the Institute. Refer to Annexure V for the grade revision appeal process.

11. Criteria for Award of PGDM

A second-year student, who has satisfactorily completed the capstone project, will qualify for the award of the Diploma if he/she satisfies the following criteria:

a) He/she should have a CGPA of at least 2.17 at the end of the second year.
b) He/she should not have an "F" or "I" in any course of the programme.
c) A student should not have any outstanding dues to the institute.

A student who does not satisfy the criteria mentioned above will be asked to withdraw from the programme.

A student must complete the academic requirement for the award of a diploma in a period not more than course duration+2 years.

12. Academic Misconduct

The institute attaches utmost importance to strict integrity and honesty in all segments of academic work. Any form of dishonesty, including an attempt to copy or help others copy in any manner is strictly prohibited. Unless specified otherwise by the instructor, students must not collaborate/syndicate in any manner in the completion of home assignments and projects. All sources of information and ideas used for the completion of the assignments and projects must be explicitly acknowledged. In other words, the non-referenced part of the answer as presented to the instructor should be the independent work of the student/s.

12.1 Unfair Means in Exams

AIDTM has a zero-tolerance policy towards academic and non-academic misconduct. One of the academic misconducts is cheating in the examination. The procedure for handling cheating cases is described below:

If a student is found cheating or attempting to cheat, the invigilator must take on-the-spot action as follows:

I. If the attempt is minor the concerned invigilator can take spot action like giving a warning, changing the seat, marking the answer paper with a deduction of some points (if a concerned faculty member is the invigilator) or anything else that is considered appropriate in that situation.

II. If the attempt is not minor, then,
    - The invigilator who has malpractice should take the concerned student out of the exam hall, take him to another room and take the student's statement in writing.

- Collect the answer paper written so far by the student and keep it together with the statement of the student.
- Send the student back to the exam hall, give another answer paper and ask the student to continue from where left off.
- The student will not be entitled to any extra time to compensate for the loss of time during this exercise.
- On completion of the examination, the concerned invigilator should give his statement about how the student was caught. This invigilator's statement along with the student's statement and both answer papers must be submitted to the Program Office for further action.

III. The Programme Chair will then refer the matter to the Disciplinary Committee for appropriate action. From this point "Consequences of Misconduct' rules and procedures will be applicable with a window for redressal by the aggrieved party.

12.2 Plagiarism

Plagiarism is professionally unethical. AIDTM expects students to demonstrate a high level of understanding about plagiarism and avoid being party to plagiarism. (Refer to Annexure VI for guidelines to avoid plagiarism)

- Stealing the words and ideas of someone else, without any acknowledgement is an example of plagiarism. In any take-home assignment and project as well as in any open book examination one must not plagiarise.
- The concerned faculty may impose severe penalties if any student has indulged in plagiarism activity.
- If the plagiarism case is referred to the Institute Disciplinary Committee for appropriate action, then the action may vary from zero in the component to expulsion from the programme. The decision of the Institute Disciplinary Committee will be final and binding to all.
- However, a student may file a mercy petition to the Dean, who will decide on a case-to-case basis whether to grant mercy or not.

12.3 Mobile Phone

- The use of mobile phones in and around classrooms is strictly prohibited. Use of a camera in a mobile anywhere on campus for any undesired purpose is strictly prohibited.
- Keep the mobile phone switched off / silent during the class.
- Anyone who violates these rules may be charged a spot fine of Rs. 500.

- Refer to Annexure VII for the Mobile Phone Policy of the Institute and abide by the same.

12.4 Other Norms of Conduct

- Canvassing for grades is strictly prohibited.
- Marking proxy attendance for others or having attendance marked by others will attract severe punishments.
- Cases of indiscipline or misconduct such as mass abstention from classes, irresponsible behaviour inside or outside the classes, use of unethical practices during the summer internship/placement or violation of the rules and regulations of the programme will be severely dealt with.
- The case method of instruction depends upon the confidence of businesses from which data are collected. Case names and data are frequently disguised. Students should ensure that the confidentiality of the data obtained for educational purposes is not violated in any way.
- It is expected that for the group assignments group members contribute equally to complete the assignment. All the members of the group should actively participate in the group assignment. Appropriate actions will be taken if the faculty observes that all the group members are not participating equally in the group projects.
- It is expected that the students will come prepared for the class with a reading of prescribed material, preparation of cases, etc.

13. Non-Academic Misconduct

The Institute attaches utmost importance to professional behaviour from all students in and outside the class. Misconduct of a non-academic nature is also taken very seriously in our Institute. Serious misconduct may lead to expulsion from the Institute.

13.1 Ragging on Campus

Ragging of fresh students by the senior batch, in any form, is a criminal offence and is strictly prohibited. Get familiarized with the Anti Ragging Rules and Policies (Refer to Annexure VIII) of the Institute and comply with them.

13.2 Misbehavior

- Students are expected to behave respectfully to all on our campus and outside. Any disrespectful behaviour may invite disciplinary action, as per the Institute policy, ranging from a fine to expulsion from the programme.

- Smoking is prohibited on the campus.
- Students are not permitted to run any commercial venture on or outside the campus. They are also not permitted to associate/help/advise any organizations on a commercial basis and to receive any honorarium for the services rendered during their studies at the Institute.
- Students are not permitted to deal with the Institute employees, including contract workers directly. Any complaints regarding the work/behaviour of such employees should be reported to the concerned administrative head.
- Students are required to attend the lectures organized by the Institute, as a part of the academic non-credit but compulsory activity of the programme.

14. Consequences of Misconduct

Academic and non-academic misconduct would invite severe penalties.

I. Any academic or non-academic misconduct may invite severe penalties ranging from a simple warning to expulsion from the programme, depending upon the severity of misconduct(s) assessed by the concerned authority.

II. The penalty for a breach of academic discipline would be first decided by the concerned faculty as per the rules of the institute.

III. However, a faculty may refer the case of academic misconduct to the Programme Chair, who in turn will ask the Institute's Academic / Disciplinary Committee to decide.

IV. The cases of non-academic misconduct can be referred to the Programme Chair, who will attempt to address the situation and decide on a penalty, if any. However, if the nature of misconduct is such it may warrant severe penalty, the Programme Chair will refer the matter to the Institute Disciplinary Committee, which will make a final decision.

V. The decision of the Institute Disciplinary Committee will be conveyed by the Programme Chair to the concerned student. The decision of the Institute Disciplinary Committee is binding to all.

VI. A student has a right to make a mercy appeal to the Dean. In consultation with the concerned instructor and the Institute Academic Committee, the Dean will make a final decision to either accept or reject the mercy appeal or change the penalty. The decision of the Dean shall be final. A student expelled from the programme on the grounds of academic or non-academic misconduct is ineligible for seeking admission to the Institute.

15. Infrastructure and Facilities

15.1 Library and Reading Room

I. The AIDTM Library is emerging as a premier academic and research institution known for its user-centric approach, innovation, and excellence. It supports faculty, students, and staff in discovering, evaluating, managing, and utilizing scholarly resources in both print and digital formats. The library offers conducive environments for study and research, complemented by superior facilities and services.

II. The Library & Reading Room is centrally located and boasts an extensive collection of resources, including books, journals, magazines, newspapers, student reports, audiovisual materials, and online resources. These cover a wide array of subjects such as Economics, Banking and Finance, Business Management, Marketing, Python, R Programming, Machine Learning, MIS, Big Data, Data Analytics, Technology Management, Artificial Intelligence and Data Science.

III. The library operates seamlessly with an advanced digital system managed through the Integrated Library Management System, KOHA. Additionally, all users benefit from Zotero, an open-access reference management software.

IV. Library membership is available at no cost to regular and visiting faculty, students, staff, and other stakeholders of the Institute upon enrollment. It holds organizational memberships with other academic institutions to supplement its resources and broaden access for students and faculty. Please refer to Annexure IX: Library Code of Conduct for detailed information on the library's rules and regulations.

Library Hours

	Library Hours	Circulation Hours
Monday to Friday	09:30 AM to 06:30 PM	10:00 AM to 06:00 PM
Saturday	09:30 AM to 01:30 PM	10:00 AM to 01:00 PM

15.2 Computer Centre

The computer laboratory is equipped with high-end Intel i5 desktop DELL computers and network devices with Wi-Fi internet connectivity. Our Networks are connected via Fiber Optic cables, Routers, Switches, LANs as well as Wi-Fi hotspots to provide wireless connectivity for all the stakeholders.

All classrooms and other academic areas are equipped with digital smart art audio and visual teaching aids, best-in-class equipment, and high-definition closed-circuit cameras. (Refer to Annexure X for computer centre rules and regulations)

15.3 Recreation Facility

AIDTM believes in student-driven institutions when it is a matter of student activities. Students take initiative and we provide support if the proposed activity is expected to add value. (Refer to Annexure XI for recreation facility and Annexure XVII for general rules and regulations)

15.4 Classroom and Tutorial Rooms

AIDTM intends to provide the best teaching and learning environment for the students. Our philosophy is that a conducive learning environment prevails for students to actively participate in the learning process. (Refer to Annexure XII for details)

15.5 Stationery

Please note that printing facilities and any kind of stationery will not be provided by the institute. Students are required to manage their stationery needs independently.

16. Student Support System

AIDTM provides various platforms to express grievances by students and handling that for suitable solution works well because students can approach any faculty or a Program Chair or Dean with their issues and problems. Still, we have provided for a formal Student Grievance Redressal system.

I. A student who has any grievance can call or write to the Chairperson of the Student Grievance Committee.
II. The Chairperson of the Committee will investigate the matter as appropriate and put up the case with the Student Grievance Committee within fifteen days for suitable action.
III. The Chairperson of the Committee will communicate the decision to the concerned student within seven days of the Committee's decision.
IV. If the concerned student is not satisfied with the redressal action, he/she can write to the Dean within one week of the date of communication of action to him/her.
V. The Dean will investigate the matter and take an appropriate decision after hearing from all concerned parties and investigating the matter. The Dean will communicate the final decision to the students and concerned parties within fifteen days of the appeal.

16.1 Academic Committee

All the decisions related to academic issues are taken by the Academic Committee in the institute.

The objectives of the Academic Committee are as follows:

- To decide on the eligibility of a student for re-assessment of his/her failure in a particular subject or number of subjects.
- To conduct one-on-one interactions with students who apply for re-assessment of their failure in a particular subject or number of subjects.
- To improve student attendance and ensure regularity in attendance. (Refer to Annexure XIII for Academic Committee)

16.2 Disciplinary Committee

All the decisions related to discipline in terms of disobeying institute rules and regulations are taken by the disciplinary committee in the institute.

The objectives of the Disciplinary Committee are as follows:

- To decide on the non-academic misconduct of a student.
- To discuss and decide the course of action for handling any general discipline issue observed by anyone in the Institution. (Refer to Annexure XIV for Discipline Committee)

16.3 Anti-Ragging Committee

The Institute has formed an Anti-Ragging Committee as per the Supreme Court directive to combat ragging on college campuses. So far there have been no such complaints received by the committee.

In case of any such incident, the students can contact the committee members. (Refer to Annexure XV for Anti-Ragging Committee)

16.4 Students Grievance Redressal System

AIDTM provides various platforms to express grievances by students and handling that for suitable solution works well because students can approach any faculty or a Program Office or Dean with their issues and problems. Still, we have provided for a formal Student Grievance Redressal system.

- A student who has any grievance can call or write to the Chairperson of the Student Grievance Committee.

- The Chairperson of the Committee will investigate the matter as appropriate and put up the case with the Student Grievance Committee within fifteen days for suitable action.
- The Chairperson of the Committee will communicate the decision to the concerned student within seven days of the Committee's decision.
- If the concerned student is not satisfied with the redressal action, he/she can write to the Dean within one week of the date of communication of action to him/her.
- The Dean will investigate the matter and take an appropriate decision after hearing from all concerned parties and investigating the matter. The Dean will communicate the final decision to the students and concerned parties within fifteen days of the appeal.

16. 5 Students Grievance Redressal Committee (SGRC) / (Women Grievance Redressal Committee (WGRC)

The Students Grievance Redressal Committee looks after all personal grievances of students within the campus.

As per AICTE regulations (Clause 3 of the AICTE regulations, 2012), a Grievance Redressal Committee is formed in the institute to address the grievances of the students and parents.

The Women Grievance Redressal Committee (WGRC) has been formed against the prevention of sexual harassment of women and provides a mechanism to redress women's grievances. This committee meets twice a year and regularly as and when the need arises.

(Refer to Annexure XVI for Students Grievance Redressal Committee (SGRC) / (Women Grievance Redressal Committee (WGRC)

16.6 Annual Academic Awards

The institute makes special and conscious efforts to acknowledge the commendable performances of its students. This is done through an annual Academic Award Function wherein students with appreciable performances in academics, sports, cultural and other institutional activities are felicitated and given their richly deserved awards.

Annexure III: Attendance Policy

PGDM is a fully residential programme, and students are required to have 100% attendance. However, for any genuine reason, students can be permitted to remain absent, with prior permission, for a maximum of up to 30% of total sessions.

- If a student fails to secure a minimum of 70% attendance, including absence due to medical reasons, s/he will not be eligible to appear for the End Term Examination.
- There will not be any provision for a makeup quiz/examination/presentation etc., missed by the student.
- Attendance is different (independent component) and hence grades for Class Participation (CP) will not be awarded merely for attendance.
- The Class Representative (CR) will be responsible for coordinating with the respective faculty on any matter about seating and attendance requirements.

Note: For late coming into the classroom NO attendance will be given.

Annexure IV: System of Evaluation

1) Structure of grading of Academic Performance:

Grade	Qualification	Grade Point
A	Excellent	3.55 to 4.33
B	Good	2.55 to 3.54
C	Satisfactory	1.55 to 2.54
D	Low Pass	0.55 to 1.54
F	Fail	< 0.55
I	Incomplete

- The medium of instruction is English.
- Maximum CGPA can be calculated as 4.33 for the PGDM Programme.

2) Calculation of Trimester Grade Point Average (GPA):

The result for the student worked out and provided in terms of grades for each course. The trimester grade point average of a student shall be calculated based on a number of credits (Ci) assigned to any course (i) of the trimester and the grade point (Pi) earned in the course.

$$\textbf{GPA:} \quad \frac{\sum_{i=1}^{n} CiPi}{\sum_{i=1}^{n} Ci}$$

3) Calculation of Trimester Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA):

Where Ci is the total no. of credits assigned to any trimester (ith) and Gi is the GPA obtained in that trimester (ith).

$$\textbf{CGPA:} \quad \frac{\sum_{i=1}^{n} CiGi}{\sum_{i=1}^{n} Ci}$$

- An Equation to find the equivalency of CGPA may be obtained as follows:

  Percentage = (CGPA Obtained / Max CGPA) * 100

- CGPA Equivalent percentage class shall be as follows:
  - 3.04 & above: 70% & above
  - 2.60 & above: 60% & above
  - 2.17 & above: 50% & above

Annexure V: Grade Revision Appeal Process

A student has the right to appeal regarding the component and final grade in any subject. The process will be as follows:

- The student will initially attempt to resolve the grade dispute with the concerned faculty member. The student will make his or her appeal in writing to the faculty member, stating the reasons why he or she feels the grade is incorrect. Such an appeal must be made to the faculty member within a week from the date of announcement of the grade.
- The faculty member will review the appeal and decide. The decision must be communicated in writing within a week of the date of appeal.
- If the student is not satisfied with the decision of the faculty member, he/she can appeal the faculty member's decision by writing to the Programme Chair within a week from the date of communication of the decision by the faculty members. The appeal must include reasons, supportive evidence, a copy of the written appeal to the faculty member, a copy of the faculty member's reply, and all other appropriate documents.
- The Programme Chair will call the Academic Committee meeting for the review and decision on the appeal. Such a meeting will be held within fifteen days of receiving such an appeal. The Programme Chair will communicate the decision to the Academic Committee within two days of the decision.

A student can appeal against the decision of the Academic Committee to the Dean. The decision of the Dean is final and binding to all concerned parties.

Annexure VI: Guidelines to Avoid Plagiarism

The purpose of these guidelines is to appraise the students to make them aware of academic integrity, plagiarism & its consequences and referencing style in assignments, project reports or independent study submissions. For detailed understanding, students are encouraged to refer to the suggested referencing style given in this note.
Note that at AIDTM, we expect our students to demonstrate utmost academic integrity and understand the consequences if we do not.

What is Academic Integrity?

Academic Integrity is an honest and responsible scholarship. As a student, you are expected to submit original work and give credit to other people's ideas. Maintaining your academic integrity involves:

- Creating and expressing your ideas in coursework.
- Acknowledging all sources of information.
- Completing assignments independently or acknowledging collaboration.
- Accurately reporting results when conducting your research, experiment, or concerning labs.
- Honesty during examinations.

Academic integrity is the foundation of institutional success. Learning how to express original ideas, cite sources, work independently, and report results accurately and honestly are skills that carry students beyond their academic careers. Academic dishonesty not only cheats the student of valuable learning experiences, but can result in a failing grade on assignments, a failing grade in a course, or even expulsion from the institute.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism (from the Latin plagiarius, an abductor, and plagiare, to steal) is defined as "... the appropriation of another person's ideas, processes, results or words without giving appropriate credit."
At AIDTM, we recognize that the open exchange of ideas plays a vital role in academic endeavour, as often it is only through discussion with others that one is fully able to process information or to crystallize an elusive concept. Therefore, students generally are encouraged to engage in conversations with their teachers and classmates about their courses, their interests, and even their assignments. These kinds of discussions and debates in some ways represent the essence of life in an academic community like ours. And yet, all students need to acknowledge clearly when they have relied upon or incorporated the work of others. To ensure the proper use of sources while at the same time recognizing and preserving the importance of the academic dialogue, we have adopted the following policy:

"It is expected that all homework assignments, projects, reports, papers, theses, and examinations and any other work submitted for academic credit will be the student's own. Students should always take great care to distinguish their ideas and knowledge from information derived from sources. The term "sources" includes not only primary and secondary material published in print or online, but also information and opinions gained directly from other people. No student shall claim or submit the academic work of another as one's own. Students who, for whatever reason, submit work either not their own or without clear attribution to its sources will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including a requirement to withdraw from the Institute."

Plagiarism may be accidental or blatant and there is even self-plagiarism. However, students are held to the same standards whether they knew they were plagiarizing or whether they were plagiarizing themselves or someone else.

Accidental or Unintentional

One may not even know that they are plagiarizing. It is the student's responsibility to make certain that they understand the difference between quoting and paraphrasing, as well as the proper way to cite material.

Blatant

Here, students understand they are plagiarizing. Purposefully using someone else's ideas or work without proper acknowledgement is plagiarism. This includes turning in borrowed or bought research papers as one's own.

Self

Turning in the same term paper (or substantially the same paper) for two courses without getting permission from one's instructor is plagiarism.

Unless authorized by their instructors, students are expected to do their own, original work on each assignment in each class. A student who recycles his or her coursework from one class to another may face an allegation of academic dishonesty.

An instructor who believes a student has committed an act of plagiarism should take appropriate action, which includes the issuing of a "penalty grade", defined as "a grade assigned to a student by a faculty member based on a charge of academic misconduct". A penalty grade can include but is not limited to, a failing grade on the assignment or in the course.

What constitutes plagiarism or cheating?

This might occur in an assignment when:

- copying word-for-word directly from a text
- paraphrasing the words from a text very closely
- using text downloaded from the internet
- borrowing statistics or assembled facts from another person or source without acknowledging
- copying or downloading figures, photographs, pictures or diagrams without acknowledging sources
- copying from the notes or essays of a fellow student
- copying from your notes, a text, tutorial, video or lecture, that contains direct quotations.

Referencing styles

A referencing style is a set of rules telling you how to acknowledge the thoughts, ideas and works of others in a particular way. Referencing is a crucial part of successful academic writing and is key to your assignments and research. At AIDTM, it is encouraged that the students follow the APA referencing style, details of which are as follows:

APA (American Psychological Association)

The American Psychological Association publishes a style guide, the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, which is commonly used by writers, editors and students in social science subjects. The APA also provides a free basic online tutorial for using the APA Style which includes guidance on how to reference.

APA Links

The following, freely available APA web guides may also help you to reference your work using the APA style:
Cardiff University Information Literacy Resource Bank - APA Referencing Tutorial
University of Wisconsin - Madison - Writing Centre APA Documentation

Plagiarism Check

There are some paid as well as free plagiarism check software available. The students are advised to use one of them before turning in any assignment or project. The free online plagiarism check can be done at any of the following websites (there are more):
https://www.thepensters.com/free-plagiarism-checker-for-students-online.html
http://plagiarisma.net/
http://www.plagscan.com/seesources/

Annexure VII: Mobile Phone Policy

Mobile phones are a useful gadget and their use in the right places cannot be denied. However, to facilitate healthy academic processes, we adopt the following policy regulations regarding the use of mobile phones on campus:

During the class, all students must keep their phones in switch-off or silent mode.

If a mobile phone rings during the class, or if a student is found using a mobile phone in the class, the phone may be confiscated immediately by the faculty member, who will deposit the phone in the Program Office.

In the examination hall, all the students must switch off their mobile phones and keep them on the main table of the examination hall. Keeping a switched-off mobile in the pocket is also not permissible during the examination. If the mobile is found with any student during the examination, it will be confiscated and deposited in the program office.

The confiscated mobile can be returned to the concerned student only after a fine of Rs. 2000/- (1st Time), and Rs. 5000/- (2nd Time) is paid by the student. Thereafter, if a student is found with a mobile phone, it will be finally confiscated. This is without prejudice to the Institute's right to take suitable action against the student for breach of academic discipline.

The Institute has the right to look up the data on the mobile, especially when the mobile phone is confiscated during examination, and if any objectionable material is found then appropriate steps will be initiated for academic malpractice.

The mobile of a student who has violated this policy a third time will be confiscated, and further appropriate actions will be taken by the disciplinary committee of the Institute.

Annexure VIII: Anti-Ragging Rules and Regulations

The higher education community is aware that ragging in higher education institutions is a great concern for all authorities including law enforcement agencies. Prevention and prohibition of ragging on campus are very important. In this context, the Report submitted by the Raghavan Committee constituted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in SLP No.24295/2006 is relevant. Hon'ble Supreme Court of India accepted the various recommendations made by the Raghavan Committee and made it mandatory for the concerned to implement the following recommendations.

The punishment to be meted out must be exemplary and justifiably harsh to act as a deterrent against the recurrence of such incidents.

For every single incident of ragging where the victim or his parent/guardian or the Head of Institution is not satisfied with the institutional arrangement for action, a First Information Report must be filed without exception by the institutional authorities with the local police authorities. Any failure on the part of the institutional authority or negligence or deliberate delay in lodging the FIR with the local police shall be construed to be an act of culpable negligence on the part of the authorities by the Courts. All efforts should be made to ensure that cases involving ragging are taken up on a priority basis to send the correct message that ragging is not only to be discouraged but also to be dealt with sternly.

Hence, it is emphasized that ragging of and among students of this Institution in any form at any place will not be tolerated and it is banned. For this purpose, the following activities and/or actions shall be construed as forms of ragging.

The Institution has an Anti-Ragging Committee headed by a senior faculty of the Institute. If the committee finds that there is a prima facie case of ragging on the complaint received, the committee will take immediate action including the filing of an FIR with the local police depending on the seriousness of the case.

Depending upon the nature and gravity of the offense as established by the Anti Ragging Committee of the Institute, the possible punishments for those found guilty of ragging at the Institute level shall be any one or any combination of the following:

- Cancellation of admission
- Suspension from attending classes
- Withholding/withdrawing scholarship/fellowship and other benefits
- Debarring from appearing in any test/examination or other evaluation process
- Withholding results

- Debarring from representing the institution in any regional, national, or international meet, tournament, youth festival, etc.
- Suspension/expulsion from the hostel
- Rustication from the institution for a period as may be determined by an appropriate authority
- Expulsion from the institution and consequent debarring from admission to any other institution of AIDTM.
- Fine of Rupees 25,000/-

Collective punishment: when the persons committing or abetting the crime of ragging are not identified, the institution shall resort to collective punishment as a deterrent to ensure community pressure on the potential triggers.

As a preventive measure, all the existing students, freshers, and their parents/guardians shall submit an undertaking in the prescribed form at the beginning of the academic session itself failing which the concerned student will not be allowed to attend classes until he/she and his/her parents/guardians submit the said undertaking.

All the students at the Institute are advised to abide by the instructions scrupulously to ensure a healthy academic atmosphere and make it a ragging-free campus.

Strict observance of the instructions and cooperation with the Institute in its efforts to ensure a "Ragging Free AIDTM" is highly solicited.
